Strings of Joy and Tales Untold: A Magical Puppet Show

Laughter, wide eyes, and an air of enchantment filled the hall at Shraddha Tambaram recently as our kindergarteners were treated to a captivating puppet show! It was a morning brimming with imagination, where colorful characters came to life on a miniature stage, weaving stories that delighted and educated our youngest learners.

The magic unfolded as our wonderful teachers expertly maneuvered their delightful creations. From mischievous animals to wise old characters, each puppet had a unique voice and personality, instantly captivating the attention of every child..

Discovering Through Doing: Activity-Based Concept Learning

At Shraddha, we believe that the most profound learning happens when children are actively engaged, exploring and discovering for themselves. Our kindergarten program is built upon the vibrant foundation of activity-based concept learning, where abstract ideas come alive through hands-on experiences, play, and interactive exploration.

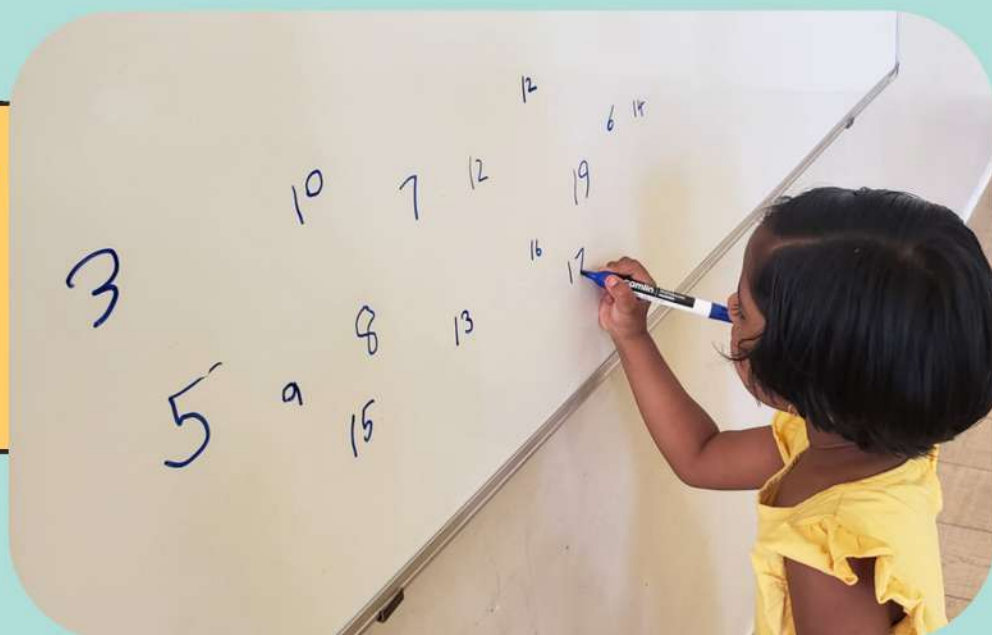

helps young children to develop fine motor skills, hand-eye coordination, and sensory awareness.

LITTLE EXPLORERS EMBARK ON WILD ADVENTURES: FIELD TRIP

Our little kindergarteners from Shraddha Tambaram recently traded their classrooms for the wonders of the wild on an unforgettable field trip to the Arignar Anna Zoological Park (Vandalur Zoo) and the Guindy National Park! This exciting excursion was designed to ignite their curiosity about the natural world and introduce them to the incredible diversity of wildlife right in our backyard.

Our teachers guided students through different enclosures, sharing fascinating facts about each animal – what they eat, where they live, and their unique characteristics. The children enthusiastically pointed out their favourite creatures, mimicked animal sounds, and asked endless questions, demonstrating their genuine excitement and budding understanding of the animal kingdom. The spacious environment allowed them to observe animals in settings that closely mimic their natural habitats, offering a more immersive learning experience.

Here, students learned about the deer, blackbucks, and a variety of birds that call this park home. It was a wonderful opportunity to talk about local ecosystems and how we can protect our environment. The children enjoyed a gentle stroll, observing the tranquil surroundings and perhaps even spotting some of the park's shy inhabitants.

BRINGING THE WILD HOME: POST-FIELD TRIP ADVENTURES

Our post-field trip activities have been buzzing with delightful ways to reinforce all the wonderful things our little explorers discovered about the animal kingdom. To ensure these valuable experiences were deeply embedded, we've engaged our tiny tots in a series of engaging and creative follow-up activities.

To help solidify their learning and encourage creative expression, PreKG students were invited to "enact animals." It wasn't just about imitation; it was about embodying the spirit of the animals. Children observed and recalled details from their field trip – how a rabbit hops and twitches its nose, how an elephant sways its trunk, or how a snake slithers silently.

Children were encouraged and guided by the teachers, to recall and visually represent their experiences from the outing. Forget traditional essays – for these little minds, a roadmap was the perfect canvas to express their newfound knowledge and memories.

A SPLASH OF SCARLET: RED DAY

The classrooms of Shraddha Tambaram recently burst into a vibrant hue of crimson as our enthusiastic kindergarteners celebrated "Red Day"! It was a day filled with laughter, learning, and a whole lot of ruby-red fun, designed to introduce our youngest learners to the exciting world of colors in an engaging and memorable way.

Children and teachers alike donned their brightest red attire – from rosy dresses and cherry-colored shirts to vibrant shoes and playful accessories. The classrooms were transformed into a cheerful canvas of red, adorned with balloons, streamers, and delightful crafts, all centered around this bold primary color.

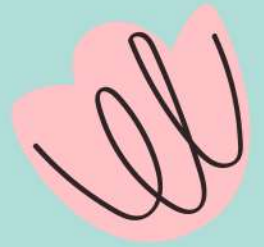

Each child had the opportunity to bring a red object from home and to share with their friends.

Tomato Crushing Activity

A special treat awaited them – delicious red snacks like watermelon slices, pomegranate, or red apples, adding a tasty dimension to their colorful day. Shraddha believes that such themed days play a crucial role in making learning a holistic and enjoyable journey for our little ones. Red Day truly was a day to remember, painting a vibrant stroke on the canvas of our kindergarteners' early educational experiences!

Inspiring the Reading Habit: Book Donation

We are beaming with pride and gratitude at Shraddha Tambaram!

Our young playgroup student, Vedhesh Vibhu, recently celebrated his birthday in a truly unique and heartwarming way: by donating a collection of books to our school. These gestures during days of significance like birthdays are meant to reiterate the importance of books.

Happy Birthday, Vedhesh ! Your gift will be cherished by many.
